You will miss a good time if you don't come to the County Fair in the Gym Friday night.

The Axe

By Frances Randolph

EVERY year George Washington's birthday means more to the University than it did the year before. This year it will see the exercises which will mark the Masonic campaign to endow a School of Diplomacy at George Washington. Masons are giving their wholehearted support to this movement, the Washington Temple Club of Master Masons having pledged themselves one hundred per cent to the fund.

HALLOWE'EN has come and gone and some of our pet complexes are no longer secret. Why have psychologists never taken advantage of the incomparable opportunities offered at this time? They might analyze the motives which move some of our most innocent fair ones to become deep-dyed vamps, and some of our wildest brunettes to affect the simplicity of sweet six and a half, to say nothing of the "When I was king in Babylon and you were a Christian slave" aspects of some of the most peaceable of the male population.

IT DID seem a little peculiar to see children with big pink sashes and wide blue eyes among the Apaches and bowery toughs at the S. A. E. Bohemian party. What is the younger generation coming to?

WELL, Gamma Beta Pi has finished its practice games with the other sororities and will now begin to train for the coming inter-collegiate contests.

AFTER the School of Diplomacy, what will come next? The hundreds of students who crowd the two elementary Journalism Classes offered in the University hope it will be a chair in Journalism or at least a few advanced courses in this subject.

THINGS are certainly becoming complicated when the sororities have to define the exact amount of cordiality that may be contained in a smile—when it is given an eligible Freshman. We understand that the latest development in the rushing situation is that when a sorority girl meets a Freshman downtown she may speak, but not in a manner which might suggest any unusual personal interest.

CONSIDERING the fine record made by our football warriors on the gridiron this year, we rather think they rate a hop, the best ever. Last year this intermittent custom was allowed to slide, and the hop after two postponements, died a natural death. Let's bring back the football hop this year!

FORTY-SEVEN States and seventeen foreign countries are represented in the Arts and Sciences Department of George Washington University. The name and fame of Arizona is hanging in the balance—it is the only state not having a loyal son or daughter to uphold its name in the most representative University of the Nation's Capital.

THE position of editor in chief and business manager of the Cherry Tree have been rotating among the present board for the past three or four years. Experience being a fine teacher, we feel justified in expecting a record-breaking yearbook next June.

STRANGE how every Theta Delta in speaking of his fraternity manages somehow to work in a comment on its age.

GEORGE WASHINGTON has lost only one of its games this year, and that one to Bucknell, up to this time considered wholly out of our class. Next year, with the one-year rule in effect—who knows?

INVINCIBLE AXEMEN CRUSH HEAVY TEAM IN 27 TO 0 VICTORY

Washington College Giants Overcome By Slashing Attacks of Crum's Eleven

EARN 22 FIRST DOWNS

Score Touchdown in Each Period By Fury of Passes and End Runs

By CAMPBELL STARR

Bewildering their bulky adversaries with a stinging attack, marked by incessant hammering at the line, brilliant forward passes, and dazzling end runs, the George Washington grid team flashed an impressive victory over Washington College's eleven at the Central Stadium last Saturday.

The affair, which ended 27 to 0 in favor of the Buff and Blue, clearly demonstrated the supremacy of brains and speed over brawn. The invaders, with their heavy line, seemed to tower above the Crummen, but this advantage of weight was more than neutralized by the teamwork and head-work of the latter. The Axemen seemed to have profited by their inundation at Ursinus, for fumbles were exceedingly rare, in spite of the soggy field and the slipperiness of the oval.

Enemy Is Outplayed

A comparison of the number of first downs registered by each team points to the fact that the offense of the Hatchettes was far superior to that of the boys from the Eastern Shore. The Crumites chalked up a total of 22 first downs as opposed to 6 for the visitors. The Buff and Blue had the edge in the passing department as well, completing six out of eleven attempts for an aggregate gain of 90 yards. The Maroon and Black essayed 14 heaves. Four were successful for a gain of 35 yards, three were intercepted, and seven were smeared by the sterling work of the G. W. secondary defense.

No penalties were incurred by either team in the first half, but during the latter part of the tilt three were inflicted upon the Crumites, and the Marylanders suffered two.

Cavanaugh started the fracas by kicking off to Sapp, who was halted on his 30-yard line. A short buck through the line netted 2 yards and Wilton took 6 yards around left end. Mock then punted to Capt. Cavanaugh, who was forced outside on his 35-yard line. On an attempted line plunge, Galvin was thrown for a

FORTY-SEVEN STATES REPRESENTED AT G. W.

Two Territories and Seventeen Foreign Countries Shown in Registration Here

Forty-seven states, the District of Columbia, two territories, and seventeen foreign countries are represented in the Department of Arts and Sciences of George Washington University. Arizona is the only State in the Union which does not furnish a single student to the department. Virginia, with 265, has the greatest number of any State, but Maryland is a close second, with 264. The next six States, arranged according to numbers, are: Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, and Illinois. Nevada sends but one, Florida two, and Arkansas and Oregon three each. Seventeen students have come from California.

Two Territories are well represented. Porto Ricans number eight and Filipinos seven.

Seventeen Countries Represented

Seventeen foreign countries have students at George Washington. The greatest variety comes from the British Empire. There are three from England, Canada and Jamaica have one apiece, and Bonnie Scotland sends one.

Besides those from the British Empire, there are students from Spain, Italy, Mexico, China, Japan, Denmark, Greece, Bulgaria, Costa Rica, Cuba, Honduras, and Palestine. These last named countries are represented by one student each. Two people come from far-off Siam. Four are from the Republic of Panama. Russians are seven in number. All together the Department of Arts and Sciences can claim a cosmopolitan air.

DIONYSIANS TO HOLD TRY-OUTS TOMORROW

A reading of Aristophanes' play, "The Frogs," was given at a meeting of the Dionysians last Thursday, in preparation for its production sometime in the near future. Try-outs for the cast will take place in Corcoran Hall 15, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Non-members who desire to try-out for the cast should attend the meeting tomorrow and apply for associate membership in the society.

LAW SCHOOL YEARLINGS BALLOT FOR OFFICERS

Elections of the first year class of the Law School, held Friday, were conducted by signed ballot for the first time. By this method four officers were elected and three chosen from the class to sit in the Law School senate. Balloting was under the supervision of James A. Cochran and Clyde A. Tolson, members of last year's Law School senate.

D. Lynn McCormack was voted in as president. The other officers were: Vice president, H. F. Durand; treasurer, Eric Peterson; secretary, Helen Miller. Margaret Daly, John C. Ketcham and John Slaughter will be the representatives on the Law School senate.

NAVAL COMMANDER TALKS ON 'NAVY DAY'

Commander Glassford Says The Battleship Is Still Supreme on the Sea

Traces Navy's Growth Considers Aviation Only An Important Branch of Present Naval Service

The "Silent Navy" broke its silence by a speech from Commander Glassford in chapel on October 26, the occasion being the 150th anniversary of the birth of the Navy. The Commander spoke of the development and necessity of the naval forces.

The Navy is a great factor in peace and war, for it is the sole mainstay of sea power, was his assertion. Sea power, in peace, contributes to the existence and prosperity of nations, and, in war, affects the conduct and outcome of the conflict.

Traces Navy's Origin

Commander Glassford traced the origin of the Navy back to the time when it was necessary to have fighting ships to protect the trading vessels. These ships were propelled by oars, and the fighting was mainly hand-to-hand encounter and ramming. The modern ships, propelled by steam, attack each other at long ranges, 9 miles on the average, due to the use of gunpowder. The Commander claims, however, that all fighting is still subordinated to the hand-to-hand encounter on land.

Aviation A Branch of Navy

Aviation he considers to be an important branch of naval service. Airships are taken on battleships and shot off much like torpedoes. They are used for scouting, controlling of gun fire, bombing, and launching torpedoes.

Commander Glassford concluded that if the battleship, which can not withstand bombs, gunpowder, or torpedoes, is ever to be replaced, it will be by a product that will be a mainstay of sea power.

FRANCES E. WALKER ELECTED TO SPHINX

The Sphinx Honor Society has announced the election to membership of Frances Estelle Walker. Miss Walker has an average well over the scholarship requirement of 90 per cent and her student activities are as follows:

Varsity Tennis Team, '23, '24, '25, Captain, '25 and Winner of Tournament of '23 and '24; Hatchet staff, '23, Reception Committee, Junior Week, '25; Sergeant-at-arms of Senior Class, Columbian College, '25, and Manager of Bowling, '24-'25; She is also a member of the Girls' G. W. Club.

Only one girl was bid at this time and the membership of Sphinx now numbers four.

DR. QUIDDE SPEAKS TO FREE LANCERS

Dr. Ludwig Quidde, a member of the Bavarian Parliament, told of the activities of the German Peace Society at a meeting of the Free Lance Club Thursday night. Dr. Quidde, a member of the German delegation to the recent meeting of the Interparliamentary Union, won royal disfavor during the war by his activities in the German Peace Party, and only his official position saved him from imprisonment.

FAMOUS DRAMA CRITIC SPEAKS BEFORE CHAPEL

"The School for Scandal" was the subject of an address given before the Friday chapel by Walter Pritchard Eaton, famous dramatic critic and vice president of the Drama League of America.

To quote Mr. Eaton: "The School for Scandal" is a shining, gay, and lovely play. It was written in 1777, and has lasted as a dominant style in England. After one hundred years an American audience can still enjoy it."

G. W. COUNTY FAIR TO BE HELD IN GYM THIS FRIDAY NIGHT

Annual Event To Have The Atmosphere of a Real County Fair

PICK KING AND QUEEN

Winners in Contest Dance to Be Crowned Rulers of the Carnival

The Gym will again be the scene of the Annual G. W. U. County Fair on Friday evening, November 6. It was just a year ago that the Gym was thrown open for the first time to the students at the time of the 1924 Fair, and it is promised that the Fair this year will more than ever harken back to those happy days when one was taken by one's best beau to a real County Fair and supplied with much pink lemonade and popcorn and complete happiness.

There will be a row of booths, among which may be bought fun makers, drinks or eats. Balloons and all sorts of noise makers will be sold by the Pi Phis; Sigma Kappa will have charge of the always interesting grab bags; Zeta Tau Alpha will have various G. W. U. stickers for sale.

Sorority Booths Open

Chi O. will serve punch, Alpha Delta Pi the cake, Gamma Beta Pi ice cream, Kappa Delta real doughnuts and cider, Delta Zeta candy, Phi Sigma hot dogs, and Phi Sigma Sigma sandwiches, so there will be absolutely no danger of starving at any rate. In addition there will be an innovation in the form of a booth where popcorn, candied apples and nuts may be bought from the Freshmen.

The Central Club is to put on a side show, the plans of which are surrounded by such complete mystery that nothing at all could be found out about it. There is a rumor, however, that it will be quite the cleverest thing that has been seen on the campus for some time. The only other information available is that given on their posters.

Dancing to Feature Evening

There will be a fortune telling booth where one may have his future read by "Gypsy Smith" or by a fortune teller who is claimed to be the only Egyptian blood ever to come to this country. Both are experts in their line, and it is expected that a policeman will be required to keep the crowds away from their booth.

Dancing will be from nine until twelve, and there will be a contest dance in the form of a street carnival, the winners to be crowned King and Queen of the carnival for the rest of the evening.

Every effort is being exerted to make the affair unusually successful, and the faculty members as well as the entire student body of the University are cordially invited to come out and join in a jolly good time.

STOCKTON HALL TO BE DEDICATED ON NOV. 14

Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School Is to Give Address

Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School is to deliver the principal address at the dedication of Stockton Hall, November 14, 1925, at five o'clock in the gymnasium. Invitations have been issued to the faculty and student body of the Law School to attend this and the subsequent activities of the day.

There will be a luncheon for guests and delegates at one and an automobile trip around the city at 2.30. The ceremony proper will be at five o'clock in the gymnasium.

Following Dean Pound's address there will be several short talks. A reception will be held at nine o'clock in Stockton Hall, at which time the building will open to inspection. There will be dancing at 10 p. m. to conclude the evening's program.

PERIODICALS PUBLISH ARTICLES BY DOYLE

Four periodicals have published articles by Professor Henry Gratton Doyle of the Modern Language department, in the last two months. "Art and Archaeology," for September contained his book review of "Spanish Sunshine." In "School and Society" for September 19, Professor Doyle had an article on "Scientific and Commercial Courses in Modern Foreign Languages." "The Study of Spanish in the United States" is the title of a contribution to the "Bulletin of Foreign Studies," an English publication. On August 27 "Aids to the Study of Spanish," by Professor Doyle, appeared in the "Journal of Education."

G. W. CLUB TO MEET

The Men's G. W. Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Room 21 Lister Hall.

DR. NEWELL TO SPEAK BEFORE ENGINEERS

Dr. F. H. Newell, former head of the U. S. Reclamation Service, will address the Engineering Society tonight at 8 o'clock in Room 29 of Corcoran Hall. His subject will be "The present anthracite coal situation in this country."

Dr. Newell is now engaged in industrial research work, and is in direct touch with the situation caused by the strike of anthracite miners. His lecture will be a mixture of engineering and popular discussion and should prove interesting to the lay as well as the technical man.

This is the first of a series of talks of similar nature to be held by the Engineering Society this winter.

SORORITY TITLE TO GAMMA BETA TEAM

Winners Defeat Chi Omega Sextet 15 to 8 in Spirited Contest for Crown

PI BETA PHI GETS THIRD Win Over Delta Zeta 18 to 5; A. D. Pi Defaults to Sigma Kappa

The inter-sorority basketball series closed last Thursday night in the George Washington Gym when Gamma Beta Pi, last year's title winner, took first place by defeating Chi Omega, the runners-up of the series, by a score of 15 to 8.

Chi Omega, in losing the final contest to the champions of 1924 and 1925, takes second place in the tournament. The deciding tilt was the most exciting of the entire series, fast and furious play marking the contest.

The Chi O's opened the game with a basket by Ted Seibold. Play immediately became exceedingly fast for both teams. The first quarter ended with a count of 3 to 3.

The Gamma Beta Pi's came back with renewed vigor in the second session and scored seven additional points to Chi Omega's one, making the score 10 to 4 at the end of the half.

The winners got off to a good lead as the second half opened, with a basket for two points by Alice Haines, star forward. The Chi O's fought hard during the remainder of the contest and held the winners to a 5 to 4 score in the second half.

Winners Have Strong Defense

A strong defense was seen in the experienced guard line of the victors and in the stellar performance of Alice Haines, their captain. Louise Braswell played an excellent defense.

FIX DATE FOR FOUNDING OF DIPLOMACY SCHOOL

Exercises to Be Held by Master Masons on George Washington's Birthday

Washington's birthday, February 22, has been the day set aside for the exercises that will mark the founding of the Foreign Service School of Diplomacy at George Washington University by the Master Masons throughout the country, according to an announcement made last week by the National League of Masonic Clubs. The endowment is the outgrowth of a resolution presented by Professor Croissant at the nineteenth annual convention of the League in Saratoga Springs, New York, last August.

Funds for the endowment are being raised by donations of one dollar, voluntarily subscribed by members of the 635 clubs comprising the League. One hundred thousand dollars is necessary to permanently endow the school, but as membership in the League is approximately 175,000 it is thought that little difficulty will be encountered in raising the funds.

Meeting With Success

"The project of endowing this branch of education is meeting with unhopd for success. Already have subscriptions been received from England, Scotland and other countries, while still others have wished us 'God speed,'" Charles A. MacHenry, president of the League, is quoted as having said.

Although the program arranged for the exercises has not been announced, it is definitely known that Masonic rites will be held.

The announcement setting the date for the endowment exercises was made through the Temple Club of Master Masons of this city. The club has gone on record as being the first Masonic club to guarantee 100 per cent fulfillment of the quota allotted them. The course in Diplomacy will be ready by the fall term of 1926.

Y. W. C. A. TO MEET FRIDAY

A meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will be held in Room 17, Corcoran Hall, immediately after chapel on Friday, November 6, and it is urged that all members be present at that time.

Varsity Triumphs Over Oxford on Russian Question

Awarded Decision Over English Team By 452 to 446 Vote of Audience

TRIMBLE OUTSTANDING

Visitors Uphold Their Forensic Contentions on Economic and Altruistic Grounds

By C. K. FIERSTONE

Repeating their performance of two years ago, the George Washington University Debating Team again scored a victory over that of Oxford University Monday night in the University Gymnasium. While the margin of votes cast was reduced to six, the home team this year was no less brilliant than its predecessor which won by a larger majority. The final count of the ballots cast by the audience which acted as judge resulted in 452 for George Washington upholding the negative as against 446 for Oxford contending for the recognition of Russia.

Opening their attack with the usual repertoire of witticisms, the first speaker for Oxford, H. J. S. Wedderburn upheld his reputation for clever and consistent reasoning. Mr. Wedderburn presented practically the only constructive speech on the affirmative side when he declared that the demand for settling existing debts and opening the great country of Russia to international development of its resources made it imperative that the Soviet regime be recognized and the country be admitted to the family of nations.

As the second speaker on the affirmative side R. H. Bernays based his claim for recognition of Russia more on altruistic motives, declaring that the good to be rendered to the Russian people was a duty devolving upon all civilized countries, regardless of their approval or disapproval of the internal management of affairs by the Soviet regime.

Zabel Opens G. W. Attack

Oscar A. Zabel opened the attack for George Washington, contending that the present Soviet government came into power through disapproved revolutionary practices and represented a very small minority of the Russian population. Following this statement he contended that it had shown itself untrustworthy, especially in face of the fact that it had repudiated its debts, had repeatedly confiscated property of foreigners, and was intent upon spreading its communistic doctrines throughout the world by systematic propaganda.

Miss Vivian Simpson, who has the unique distinction of being the first of her sex to represent the University on an international debate, strengthened her colleague's contention that the present government has not merited recognition and admission into the family of nations.

John P. Trimble presented the most forcible and conclusive arguments of the debate. In both his constructive speech and in his rebuttal he displayed witticism approaching and in many ways surpassing that of the English team. It was probably his arguments more than those of any other speaker which won the six vote margin that secured the verdict for George Washington.

The English team was entertained at luncheon Monday at the University Club by the Phi Delta Gamma Fraternity after being received by President Coolidge. Since their arrival in Washington they have been the guests of the British Embassy.

G. W. PLAYERS TO GIVE THREE PLAYS TONIGHT

"The Brain Storm" and "Thursday Evening" Among Presentations to Be Offered

The George Washington Players are to present their first of a series of monthly programs tonight in Corcoran Hall at 8.30. The bill will consist largely of comedy plays, but enough of drama is promised to give variety. The presentation will be open to all students of the University, and they are invited to attend.

"The Brain Storm," directed by Marian Campbell, is one of the features promised. Vincent Stubbs is presenting "You Know? I Know? Shake!" which is characterized as being a screaming farce. A special added attraction will be presented in "Thursday Evening," a play which Alice Williams is putting on.

New material is constantly needed for the Players' monthly programs, and all who are interested will be given an opportunity to read or recite anything that they wish after the performance.

The Players will hold their monthly meeting on Wednesday evening, November 4, at eight p. m., in Corcoran Hall.

CONCERNING A POST-SEASON GAME

Several letters have been received by our "Splinters from Sportdom" column strongly advocating a post-season football game with either Georgetown University or Maryland University. Maryland may be dismissed without question as the rules of the South Atlantic and the Southern Conferences, of which they are a member, forbids their engaging a team which does not have a one-year rule.

With reference to Georgetown, there is no doubt that such a game would be a great drawing card and a financial success. However, we must consider our chance for victory before scheduling such a battle. The climax of our season comes Thanksgiving day, when we play our annual battle with Catholic University. The Brooklanders have an exceptionally strong eleven this year, probably much stronger than the one we defeated last November, and our team will be keyed to its highest pitch for the game. Georgetown has no game near Thanksgiving which means as much to them as the C. U. game does to George Washington University, and could point for a game against the Hatchetmen. Our team, once past its normal season, may fall flat.

Again we must remember that the Hilltop team is rated the best since 1916, and with three sets of backfield men, should be able to win by continually throwing fresh men into the contest.

What the University Hatchet would like to see is a triangular match between George Washington, Georgetown and Catholic University for a series of games to be played during the normal season each year, and arranged somewhat as the Yale, Harvard, Princeton combination. Such a series would be of great attraction in Washington, would prove financially successful, and would determine each year the collegiate football champions of the District of Columbia.

USE THE GYMNASIUM

Physical education, on a systematic basis, should be given the consideration of every man and woman in the University. The gymnasium and facilities for the general toning up of the body were placed at the disposal of the women students when school started.

Too many people wear themselves down physically by their mode of life. Insurance statistics show that, while medical science is able to prolong a greater number of lives to forty years or over, a great number over that age now die of apoplexy, or some other disease which results from the ill treatment of the constitution.

Participation in some branch of athletic activities should be attempted by every student. It not only results in increased bodily vigor but, when conducted as class rivalry as in the case of Notre Dame, serves as a potential source of representative and powerful teams to carry the colors of the University in athletic competition.

REGULATING CLASS ELECTIONS

In view of the recent class election nightmare, with its charges and counter charges of crooked politics and its tardily called meetings, we suggest that the Faculty Committee on Student Activities take action regulating future elections of class officers. If it be advisable that such action originate with the students the matter could well be considered by the President's Student Committee, which is adequately representative of the student body. In the elections just completed not only were many class presidents dubious of their authority to call meetings, but where they were aware of this power they failed to exercise it until fully four weeks of the school year had passed. This was particularly fatal in the case of the Sophomore Class, where early organization is so necessary to promote rivalry between the third and fourth classmen. To illustrate the diversity of the present system, or lack of system, we witness this year Freshman elections, called by the Junior Class in the Medical School, by the Law School Senate in the Law School, and by the Interfraternity Council in Columbian College. We recommend that a definite plan be adopted applicable to all departments and specifically regulating the method and time of class elections.

Many colleges devote an entire day to elections, thus disposing of the problem for the year. This plan might be successfully followed here, or lest it prove cumbersome, elections might easily be extended over the first week of school, each department balloting on a different day. However, regardless of method, a definite plan should be fixed and published in the University Handbook, so that there may be no lack of authority on the subject.

Mrs. William Mather Lewis will entertain members of the faculty and friends of the University on Monday afternoon, November 9. In order that professors teaching in afternoon classes may be present, Mrs. Lewis will receive at three o'clock.

Mrs. Cora B. Sanborn announces the engagement of her daughter, Dorothy Ellizabeth, to Mr. Julian G. Gibbs. The wedding is to take place in December. Dorothy is well known at G. W. and is a member of Phi Sigma Sorority. Her father, the late Thornton Sanborn, graduated from G. W. in 1889, and her brother, Norris, graduated also from G. W. in 1922. Mr. Gibbs is a young attorney of this city.

Kappa Delta's "Weiner Roast," scheduled for October 25th, developed, thanks to Mr. Weather Man, into an at-home "Marshmallow Toast." Ghost stories, games, and the melodious uke held sway around a cheery log fire.

The Tau Alpha Omega Fraternity held its annual smoker at the Jefferson Room of the Mayflower Hotel Garden, Sunday evening, October 25. The men of the local chapters were present as well as some men from out-of-town chapters. Fraternism in its fullest sense was explained and eulogized by the Supreme Chancellor.

Phi Sigma Sigma Sorority held a formal luncheon at the Women's University Club, Saturday, October 24th, for the installation of its new officers. Appropriate speeches were delivered by the retiring and succeeding officers. Members of the local chapter were present, and the afternoon was a pronounced success.

Kappa Delta made merry Thursday evening, the 29th, at a rustic "Milk Maids' Ball," at the Sorority house on Que Street. Forty gingham-clad, sun-bonneted maids served old-fashioned goodies, and their lucky escorts are today proudly sporting K. D. corncocks and noisy bandannas.

Last Saturday night being the time when witches are abroad, ghosts arise, black cats meow, and goblins "gob," we find the G. W. students seeking entertainment at many merry and festive parties, and forgetting for the moment their arduous tasks.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon added to their triumphs last Saturday night when the ancient and notable Bohemian Ball was held at the chapter house on Sixteenth Street.

The Phi Sigma Kappa dance out at Maryland University last Thursday night was enhanced by the presence of several G. W. co-eds: Mary Chase, Katherine Brake, Dorothy Overstreet, Helen Stoutamyer, Eileen Phillips, Virginia Burbank, Virginia May, Aurelia Moore, Alice Ranck, and Marion Bates.

We'd like to know if Kappa Sigma got their new goats from the chorus of "Louie the 14th." There was a great display of manly beauty and tersichorean ability at their Hallowe'en hop last Saturday night at the house.

Art Robert has purchased a new winter coat. Thank heaven for K! K! Cuyler!

Balance has returned from Europe, and has assumed his duties as Goat Master at the S. A. E. house. No doubt the goats will be Europeanized before long.

Someone asked us if it was a slumming party the three Chi-O's were engaged in one night recently at one of our Ninth Street "Salons de danse."

The Theta Upsilon Omegas held a masquerade dance at their house last Friday evening.

Does anybody know whose S. A. E. pin Katherine Worrell is wearing?

Phi Mu gave a theatre party at Keith's last Saturday, at which, despite the rain, the chapter was well represented.

According to the numerous reports circulated around the campus by the enthusiastic "stags," the informal dance given by the Chi Omegas at the Grace Dodge Hotel last Wednesday night must certainly have been a huge success. The six-piece Bangamo Band and novelty dancing were features of the evening.

True Hallowe'en spirit reigned among the guests of Kappa Alpha fraternity at a dinner and dance given last Saturday, October 31.

An open meeting of Lambda Phi Mu Medical Fraternity will be held at 1441 Rhode Island Avenue on Saturday evening, November 7. An address will be given by an upper classman upon some medical subject.

Theta Delta Chi entertained with a masquerade dance Saturday evening, October 31, at their house on Connecticut Avenue. The Dean of Columbian College and Mrs. William Allen Wilbur were present.

The active and graduate members of Theta Delta Chi celebrated the fraternity's founding October 30 with a banquet at the house of the George Washington University chapter. Groups of members in all parts of the world gathered at the same time to commemorate the 78th birthday of their fraternity. Theta Delta Chi was founded October 30, 1847, at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., and is one of the oldest fraternities in the country.

One of the outstanding dances of the Hallowe'en season in point of enjoyment was held at the Sigma Nu house, Friday night.

Delta Pi chapter of Sigma Nu will hold memorial services Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the Cavalry M. E. Church. Dr. J. S. Montgomery, Chaplain of the House of Representatives, will preach the memorial sermon.

Miss Maxine Tull of Mu Chapter, Millsaps College, was a visitor at the Kappa Delta house last Tuesday.

Last Saturday was a gala day at 1707 Massachusetts Avenue when the Acacia Fraternity celebrated at a masquerade dance. The figures that had once departed from this world all returned, some in colors that would make a rainbow dizzy. Such notables as Cleopatra, Queen Elizabeth and Colonial Dames escorted by Napoleon, Richelleu and all other notables down to Captain Kidd, were in this celebration.

The Chi Omegas celebrated Hallowe'en with a very delightful luncheon party given last Friday in their rooms, which were prettily decorated for the occasion. The guests of honor were Professor and Mrs. Doyle, Dean Rose, Miss Kincannon, Miss Jones, and Miss Hopkins.

The Delta Tau Deltas entertained with a peppy Hallowe'en dance last Saturday night at their house, 1743 Eighteenth Street. The house was decorated in accord with the Hallowe'en spirit—plenty of pumpkins, corn stalks, and everything, including fun!

Alpha Kappa Kappa held a werra werra successful and entertaining, etc., etc., dance Friday night at the Playhouse, 1814 N. Street N. W. Profs, members, pledges, and refreshments were all in evidence. Excellent music was furnished by Oehmann's Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Berliner entertained the active and alumnae members of Phi Sigma Sorority at a Hallowe'en dance at Sycamore Lodge.

NEWMAN CLUB TO MEET

The Newman Club will hold its second meeting Monday, November 9, at 8 p. m., in Corcoran Hall. Dr. John M. Cooper, of Catholic University, will speak on "Evolution." Catholic men of the University are particularly invited to attend this lecture.

DAN DE SOUZA RESIGNS DRAMATIC EDITORSHIP

Dan De Souza, who has in the past edited with marked success, "Hatchet Reviews of Current Shows," has been forced to resign his duties as Dramatic Editor of the Hatchet to take on more arduous ones on the Editorial Board of the Army and Navy Journal. However Dan has not left the Hatchet Staff entirely, and promises to contribute occasional reviews to his old column. J. T. Patterson has temporarily taken up the critic's pen but must soon, in turn, relinquish it, due to pressure of outside work.

MINISTERS TO ADOPT CONSTITUTION FRIDAY

The Ministerial Association of George Washington University will meet next Friday, November 6 for the purpose of adopting a constitution and by-laws, and deciding upon a program of activities for the year. All ministers or those contemplating entering the ministry, who are enrolled in George Washington University, are invited to the meeting. It will be held in Corcoran Hall at 8 p. m., Room 21.

MAJOR TITTMAN SINGS AT WEDNESDAY CHAPEL

Major Charles Trowbridge Tittman, noted basso and one of Washington's best known singers, presented a program at chapel on Wednesday, October 28. He was accompanied by Miss Lucy Brickenstein.

Major Tittman's program was varied, including songs from old Italy, France, Hungary, Ireland, England and America.

Especially well received were the numbers, "The Kerry Dance," by Malloy, and Jeffrey O'Hara's "Leetie Bateese."

Major Tittman has sung on various other occasions at G. W.

CHORAL SOCIETY MEETS

Under the splendid supervision of Miss Wentworth the Woman's Choral Society met Monday, October 23, for its regular Monday afternoon practice of songs which they hope to present at a recital in the spring. The success of any entertainment they may definitely decide to give is assured.

INTRODUCING THE FACULTY

GEORGE NEELY HENNING

Portly (anywhere), terrifying (in French), yet a humorist; presumably, a misogynist (look it up), certainly, a cell-bate; incidentally an author.

Dean Henning, of the Graduate School, another old standby on the faculty, went from the District to capture the coveted A. B. magna cum laude, 1894.

He received his A. M. from the same place in 1898 and an A. M. from what is now G. W. in 1896, later travelling abroad and studying at Sorbonne, Paris, during 1900 and 1901. George Washington awarded him the honorary degree of Litt. D. in 1919.

He was first connected with the University in 1894 when he taught in Columbian Academy and Columbian College. During 1899 and 1900 he inculcated French into the Harvardites, to return again to the University in 1901 as professor of Romance Languages. He was acting dean, 1918-19, and has been from 1919 of the School of Graduate Studies.

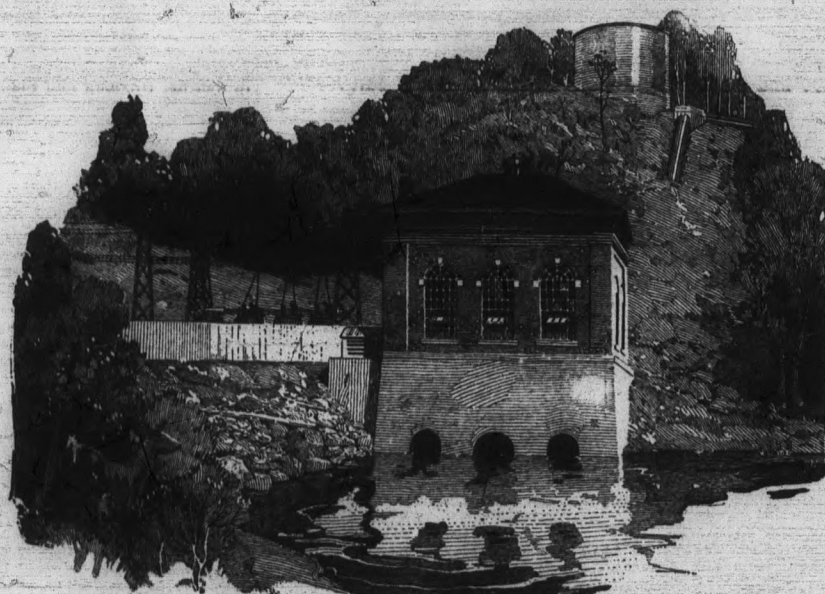

Relating a few anecdotes of the past, Dean Henning, with a twinkle in his eye, said that when he first came, not only was he the entire department of Romance Languages but that all the collateral and advanced reading had to be done in the one French book in the library, an old French Dictionary. Now there are over 1,000 volumes to be referred to in the library and the faculty of the department includes six full time instructors and six part time instructors.

Dean Henning is a member of the Modern Language Association, and also holds a key of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity. He has edited many well-known French texts and is a contributor to the Modern Language Notes and the Romantic Review.

In an isolated region, almost inaccessible in winter, this 6500 h.p. hydro-electric plant located on the Deerfield River in New England, starts, protects, and stops itself.

A Self-Starting Power Plant

Dawn—the slumbering city awakens and calls for electric current. Many miles away the call is answered. A penstock opens automatically, releasing impounded waters; a water turbine goes to work, driving a generator; and electric current is soon flowing through wires over the many miles to the city. This plant starts and runs itself.

Power plants with automatic control are now installed on isolated mountain streams. Starting and stopping, generating to a set capacity, shutting down for hot bearings and windings, gauging available water supply, they run themselves with uncanny precision.

Thus another milestone has been reached in the generation of electric power. And with present-day achievements in power transmission, electricity generated anywhere may be applied everywhere.

The non-technical graduate need not know where electricity comes from—nor even how it works. But he should know what electricity can do for him no matter what vocation he selects.

The General Electric Company has developed generating and transmitting equipment step by step with the demand for electric power. Already electricity at 220,000 volts is transmitted over a distance of 270 miles. And G-E engineers, ever looking forward, are now experimenting with voltages exceeding a million.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

Stars from Central and Western Are Making Bid for Places on Varsity Squad

Edna Kilpatrick, Manager of Girls' Rifle, announces the opening of the rifle season. There will be a meeting Thursday, November 5, in Room 17, Corcoran Hall of all women students who are interested in trying out for the girls' team. At this meeting efforts will be made to assign practice days for the girls. The rifle range, in the basement of Corcoran Hall, is at the service of the women students on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11.30 until 5, and on Wednesdays, from 11.30 until 4.30. Saturdays are reserved for the use of girls trying for the varsity team, and it is on Saturday that the matches below scheduled will be shot.

High School Stars Out

About six of the girls who won their letter last year are back again. Helen Taylor, who was Captain of Rifle at Central last year, Helen Prentiss, Elizabeth Garber, Ethel Theis, from Central and Betty Fries from Western are at George Washington this year and promise fine material for a varsity team. Other girls who have won their letter at High School are urged to get in touch with Sophia Waldman.

The Intercollegiate Championship Match run by the N. R. A. is scheduled much earlier this year. It is

INTERFRAT BASKETERS OPEN TOURNEY TONIGHT

First Games Postponed for Oxford Debate; Kappa Alpha Enters Tournament

Tonight, instead of Monday as originally scheduled, Interfraternity Basketball gets under way with Sigma Alpha Epsilon meeting Sigma Chi in League 1 and Theta Upsilon Omega playing Acadia in League 2. The opening games of the series were postponed on account of the Oxford Debate which was held in the gymnasium Monday evening.

The games scheduled for Monday, Sigma Nu vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Sigma vs. Delta Tau Delta, will be played Saturday night.

Kappa Alpha Enters

Kappa Alpha has been admitted to the tournament, but due to the fact that the fraternity did not enter its team until after the schedule was arranged, it will simply be given the place of any team that defaults.

The teams have been practicing at every opportunity in order to get into trim for the series, and Kappa Sigma's basketball crown, won in the series last year, will be fought for vigorously by all the other fraternities.

CIRCULO ESPANOL TO MEET

The Circulo Espanol will hold a meeting Thursday, November 5, on the first floor of building 6, 2017 G street, N. W., at eight p. m. A very interesting program is being planned.

GRIDMEN TO TACKLE TEMPLE U. ELEVEN

Meet Cherry and White Owls From Philadelphia in Stadium Saturday

EXPECT TOUGH BATTLE

Quaker Team Has Had Very Successful Season Defeating Upsala and Schuylkill

By HOWARD M. BAGGETT

The conquering Hatchette football hosts will engage the Cherry and White Owls of Temple University, of Philadelphia, Saturday afternoon at the Central Stadium, the game to start at 2.30. The Quaker team, led by Coach Miller, will invade the Capitol with a well-played season behind them, and should furnish keen competition for the Buff and Blue warriors.

Temple University is making a bid for greater football recognition this season. In past years they have had only a mediocre team, but under the leadership of Coach Miller, their newly appointed grid mentor, they have put a fast and well-drilled eleven on the gridiron.

The Owls opened their season against Upsala College of New Jersey, defeating the visitors 19 to 0 in a fast game. Walton and Jacobs led the attack of the Cherry and White team. The following week they defeated the Schuylkill College gridmen 3 to 0, a drop-kick giving them their margin of victory.

Lost to Penn Military College

While the Crummen were flourishing in the mud at Collegeville the Temple team dropped a game to Penn Military College, 13 to 0. Last season the Hatchettes lost to P. M. C. by the same count. The Soldiers also have won over Rutgers and St. Joseph's and the Owl team did well to hold them to a pair of touchdowns.

Harry Jacobs, heavy-weight full-back, and Walton, quarterback, are the mainstays of the Temple attack. Jacobs' specialty is line smashing, while Walton does the kicking, and is the speed merchant of the backfield. Gilliland, center on the Owl team, is reported to be a heady player who is especially good on the defense.

A special cheering section expects to accompany the Cherry and White team to Washington, and the newly organized Temple Band may make the trip here.

Coach Crum is expecting to start his four horsemen, Wilton, Clapper, Coleman, and Mock, in the backfield, holding Sapp and Igo in readiness. Kendall, the Hatchette's roving and rangy center, will be back at the pivot position. Goldman and Athey in guards, Hayman and Slaughter in tackles, and Allshouse and Growton at ends will complete the first-string lineup.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS GIRLS' TENNIS FINALS

Frances Walker, Phoebe Moorehead, and Cecyle Taylor Lead in Fourth Round

Delayed by rain and snow the dates for tennis finals have again been postponed. Three brackets of the semi-finals were finished last week with Frances Walker leading the first by a victory over Alys Ewers, 6-2, 6-3. She will challenge the winner of the fourth round matches between Ruth Curran and Elizabeth Chickering, which will be played as soon as the weather permits.

In the second bracket Phoebe Moorehead reached semi-finals by defeating Edith Petrie, 6-4, 8-6. It had been announced that Elizabeth Hastings had won this match by default but this decision was waived and Miss Petrie came forward with a good score when the game was played last week.

Cecyle Taylor in the other half of the second bracket will play Miss Moorehead soon. In case of more rain, extra days will be allowed.

Summary:
F. Walker defeated A. Ewers, 6-2, 6-3; Cecyle Taylor defeated M. Didden, 6-1, 6-3; Phoebe Moorehead defeated E. Petrie, 6-4, 8-6.

SORORITY TITLE TO GAMMA BETA TEAM

fensive game for Chi Omega. The center fields of both sextets showed good form and fast movement.

More team work was displayed in this game than any other performance of the Pan Hellenic court series and can be rightly called a game of real sportsmanship. The victors showed remarkable ability on the court and are to be recognized as the superior team of the contest, with Chi Omega running a close second. The contest was very ably refereed by Miss Hopkins, head of the girls' sports at G. W.

The line-up follows:

Gamma Beta Pi 15	Chi Omega 8
Vander Viers Forward	Ted Seibold
A. Haines Forward	E. Valden
J. Jackson Center	H. Wise
V. Blackstone Side Cen	B. Armentrout
M. Bixler Guard	B. Brandenburg
E. Hastings Guard	L. Braswell

The final contests for third place was finished during the last week, Pi Beta Phi taking the honors over Delta Zeta by a margin of 18 to 5 and Alpha Delta Pi defaulting to Sigma Kappa.

The final ratings of the teams are: Gamma Beta Pi, Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Kappa, Delta Zeta, Alpha Delta Pi, Zeta Tau Alpha.

HATCHETMEN TO PLAY AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

Coach Crum will send his proteges through a practice game with the newly-formed American University eleven on the Potomac Park gridiron at 2.30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The American University team, which is being tutored by G. Baillie Springston, a former George Washington man, will make its first appearance on this occasion. The strength of Springston's machine is an unknown quantity, and the Buff and Blue mentor expects to get a line on how his team will perform in the coming tilt with Temple University at the Wilson Memorial Stadium this Saturday.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM TO RACE MARYLAND

Also Expect to Close Arrangements For Race Against Catholic U. Thanksgiving

A five mile cross country race has been arranged with the University of Maryland to be run at College Park Saturday afternoon. The G. W. U. harriers will be Domigan, Willet, Anderson, Bixby, Shipley and Gallagher. The first five places will count.

The addition of William and Mary to the cross country schedule insures George Washington of a worthy foe for its second intercollegiate competition. The race will be run at Williamsburg over a four-mile course and the showing of the Hatchette harriers against the Indians will be indicative of the team's chance of taking Navy over the following week.

To Race Catholic University

While the meet with the Middlesex is the most important on the schedule, members of the team are especially anxious to close negotiations now pending for a track race with Catholic University to be run between halves of the annual G. W. C. U. game, Thanksgiving Day. All other teams will be met on foreign territory and the local runners are desirous of this opportunity to demonstrate their ability before the student body.

Practice sessions have now been arranged for seven o'clock and start nightly from the gym extending through the pathways of Potomac Park. This arrangement gives the advantage of team training as well as the use of the facilities of the gym and it is also hoped will result in a larger number of candidates reporting for the squad.

TWO CHANGES MADE IN GRID SCHEDULE

Randolph-Macon College to be Met at Ashland, Va., in Place of Albright

Announcement of two changes in the Hatchette football schedule has been made recently by Coach Crum. Instead of tackling Albright College of Myerstown, Pa., at the Wilson Memorial Stadium Saturday, November 14, the team will journey to Ashland, Va., on November 13 to face the grid warriors of Randolph-Macon College. In spite of the fact that this tilt comes on Friday the 13th, an ill-omened day, and the Crummen will be playing on a strange ball-pasture, a win by a comfortable margin is forecast.

Buffalo University will be met in Washington Friday, November 20, and not on the Saturday following, as previously scheduled. The George Washington lads seem confident of a victory, making two wins over the shaggy Bisons in as many years.

G. W. PRIMER

OUT FOR BLOOD

Looking forward to a cheering section at the George Washington-Catholic University turkey day battle that knows at least four of the University yells, the Hatchet will print the following cheers in every issue before the game. It should take but a few moments and little effort on the part of the students to commit them to memory.

SPLINTERS FROM SPORTDOM

Some Destructive Criticism

Initials Hide Our Critic

Football and Finance

Students Responsible for Team

Let Us Be Constructive

By DAN MCGREW

Letters of constructive criticism were requested by Splinters in the last issue of the Hatchet, and several such were received. Evidently we did not make ourselves entirely plain, however, as the letter discussed below from one who signs himself "F. B. B." is most destructive in its character.

While we cannot fight the battles of those in charge of the football team, we also cannot stand by and let them be so roundly "panned," as this anonymous writer proceeds to do in his letter. We will try to take up the questions he raises and the statements he makes and refute them.

First he says, "Is there anything wrong with our football team?" The answer is a most explosive, "No." Our team is right there with the goods and the sporting public know it. The mere fact that we are getting much larger press notices than ever before shows this. A comparison of records for the past three years will also show our advance. In 1923 G. W. played ten games, and won only two of them, which had not been unusual for several years. In 1924, Crum's first year as coach, the team won six, tied one with Johns Hopkins 3-3, who had beaten G. W. 62-6 the year before, and lost three. This year four wins, and one tie with teams of the class we have been meeting for several years, and a defeat by a team of greater renown than any we have played for a long time, is our record, and shows the improvement which has been made.

Our critic further says, "It would seem that we must say 'yes' if we allow Georgetown to occupy its present prominent position in District football without some effort to dislodge it."

We cannot but feel sorry for anyone who makes the statement about our making no effort to dislodge Georgetown. We wonder what he thinks "Maud," Tom Tracey and the rest work for if it is not football supremacy. Every day, rain or shine, they are on the field working with the team, and many nights find the coach trying to work a way out for the football team, how best to spend the comparatively small sum he has with which to coach and equip a team, pay officials and arrange games. Georgetown is reliably said to spend at least $50,000 a year on football. This is one reason for George Washington's relatively poor showing, and a good example of how little the column's anonymous correspondent knows about football here.

The experts rate Coach Crum very highly, and his heart is in his work. The Faculty committee spends many hours working on financial plans for football, and every time President Lewis speaks to the student body he stresses athletics and pledges anew his whole-hearted support of them, and yet our critic says no effort is being made.

Then this modern Lord Chesterfield says "If the team is not on a par with any other in the city it is not the fault of the team, and it seems to me that whoever is responsible for its present status owes it to the team and to the University to see that this injustice is removed."

There is no plausible excuse why George Washington cannot be 'the team' of Washington, D. C.

What we want to say is that whoever is responsible for the team's present status is entitled to a rousing vote of thanks from the students who have done so little to support a winning team. Pop meetings are called with very discouraging results. The student body seems to take the Saturday game as a pleasant exhibition, a side show, put on for their benefit. They have failed to grasp the real significance of the football team's place in the University life, and have not the spirit to enthuse the team to great deeds.

We wonder if F. B. B. was one of those present at the pep meetings, and we wonder if he was out for the football team? He could hardly have been from the knowledge he shows of conditions here, and we suggest that if he has the nerve he go and see Coach Crum some morning and be thoroughly tutored in the difficulties of putting across a winning eleven.

We want letters that offer solutions for the problems of sports, containing some definite facts that the writer can point out and suggest a cure for. We appreciate constructive criticism, but a letter is not worth reading if it tears down existing institutions and offers nothing in place of them.

FOREIGN STUDENTS TO CONFER IN BALTIMORE

Conference Under Auspices of Home-wood Churches and Baltimore Y. M. C. A.

Students of foreign nations attending George Washington University are invited to the International Conference for Students of All Nations, to be held at the Friends' Meeting House, 3107 N. Charles Street, Baltimore, Maryland, from Friday, November 6 to Sunday November 8. A few representative students of the United States will also be invited.

The conference is being conducted under the auspices of the Home-wood Churches and the Intercollegiate Department of the Baltimore Y. M. C. A. The program includes a get-acquainted dinner and the opening session on "Problems of Internationalism," on Friday. "Problems and Progress of Internationalism," will be discussed Saturday, followed by a banquet in the evening. The closing session will be held Sunday. The invitation is extended to all foreign students studying in Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia, who will be guests for lodging and breakfast in the homes of members of cooperating churches. Those planning to attend should register today with Miss V. Ananias, Registrar, Box 12, Goucher College, Baltimore.

EPISCOPALIANS CHANGE DATE OF WENIE ROAST

Episcopalians of G. W. will meet at Fourteenth Street and Colorado Avenue on Sunday, November 8, at 2 o'clock, to hike to Rock Creek Park, where a "wienie roast" will be held. The day has been changed from Thursday to Sunday to make it possible for a greater number to attend.

A breakfast was given the Club members by the Young People's Society of the Church of the Epiphany on November 1.

URBAN UNIVERSITIES TO HOLD MEET HERE

Thirty-two Schools to be Represented at Annual Meeting of Association

Thirty-two universities, advocating the advancement of education, are sending representatives to the annual meeting of the Association of Urban Universities, which convenes at George Washington University, Thursday, November 12. This meeting will continue three days, during which time the delegates will not only be addressed by several prominent speakers, but will also enjoy a sight-seeing tour and attend three social functions given in their honor.

Thursday's program includes morning and afternoon sessions in Corcoran Hall for the discussion of problems and reading of papers by members. The visitors will be tendered a luncheon and reception in the evening.

Meetings to Close Saturday.

On Friday the deliberations will be held in Stockton Hall, with a sight-seeing tour in the afternoon and a dinner at the Powhatan that night. The sessions close formally at noon Saturday, but it is expected that many of the delegates will remain for the dedication of Stockton Hall Saturday afternoon.

The secretary is Dean Frederick B. Robinson of the School of Business and Civic Administration of the College of the City of New York, who was the principal speaker at the fall convocation of George Washington.

NURSES HOLD COSTUME DANCE ON HALLOWE'EN

Becostumed, masked, and full of pranks, the nurses of the George Washington University Hospital danced their cares away in Corcoran Hall Saturday night to the tunes of the Capital City Ramblers. The hall was completely metamorphosed. The lights were covered with Halloween crepe, to shed a soft light over the merrymakers, and the walls and pillars were copiously decorated with highly colored leaves and various combinations of orange and black. Among the many who attended was a good sized representation of the medical third-year class.

Prizes of the evening were awarded to Dorothy King and A. B. Crombie, who lasted longest in the elimination waltz, and Miss Heibek, who was judged to have the best costume.

Edith Beattie headed the committee which made arrangements for the dance and decorated the hall.

Hatchet Reviews of Current Shows

By TOM PATTERSON

ALAS!

We are unable to review the National and the Belasco this week, as they do not have Sunday openings. Our critics were straining at the leash in their eagerness to be up and at them, but all to no avail. At the National Charles Dillingham presents Ina Claire in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," by Frederick Lonsdale. At the Belasco we have George Arliss in "Old English," by John Galsworthy.

POLIT'S

The Messrs. Shubert have given us a new and different musical comedy in "Mayflowers," which depicts little old New York in the horse-and-buggy stage, when grandma wore a bustle and used smelling salts.

The players are headed by the inimitable combination of Joe Santley and Ivy Sawyer, supported by an accomplished cast. The story is a trifle weak, but the day is saved by fascinating music, with excellent voices to sing it.

Robert Woolsey, the comedian, with his eccentric dancing creates a better impression than he did last season in "The Dream Girl," but the humorous situations are few and far between. The chorus dances very well, considering the impediment caused by the 1890 costumes.

Despite this harsh, stinging criticism, you ought to like "Mayflowers" if you like colorful costumes and good singing.

JOE.

RIALTO

Reginald Denny, in "California Straight Ahead," presents a picture of an irrepressible and energetic youth, efficient both as a sheik and as an automobile racer. The picture is unusual in one respect, it starts off with the hero and the fair lady already engaged. They become unengaged, and Reggy is faced with the prospect of winning her all over again. This he does, to the satisfaction of all concerned. As Tom Hayden, the pampered son of a millionaire, he enters an automobile race at Los Angeles, after crossing the continent to get to it. Does Reggy, or rather Tom, win the race? Well, the girl is in the stands rooting for him. You know he does.

INVINCIBLE AXEMEN CRUSH WASHINGTON

2-yard loss by Hayman. Cavanaugh punted to Clapper, who advanced the ball to his 30-yard line before he was downed. Clapper went off tackle for 4 yards, and Mock took 4 yards more through center. He then kicked to Washington's 30-yard line. Purcell could not gain through the line, and the Marylanders punted to George Washington's 40-yard line.

An end run by Wilton netted 15 yards, and two line plays failed. Standing on his 45-yard line, Mock sent the pigskin soaring over the enemy goal line. Goldman tackled Purcell from behind, and threw him for a loss. Cavanaugh punted to mid-field. Sapp reeled off 12 yards around right end and took 5 more off tackle on the next play. Wilton tore through the line for a first down. Sapp went off tackle for 4 yards, Wilton could not gain around left end, and after a cross-back brought another 4-yard gain, the Maroon and Black forwards braced and held for downs.

Clapper Makes First Tally

The Buff and Blue, led by Clapper and Wilton, commenced a rampage down the field which netted the first score of the afternoon. Starting from their 30-yard line, these two huskies slashed through the line and romped around the ends in great style. After three successive first downs were made, Clapper breezed past Washington's secondary for 10 yards and a touchdown. The try for point failed.

Recovery of a fumble resulted in the second marker. Cavanaugh let a bad pass go over his head, and Slaughter fell on the ball on the Marylander's 20-yard line. The Hatchetmen made short work of the remaining distance to the goal, and Coleman wormed his way over the line for another six-pointer. The try for the extra point went wild, but the Maroon and Black was called off-side, and the point counted. The rest of the second period was scoreless, but Crombie brought the spectators to their feet by snaring a pass from Coleman behind the enemy goal. He was just a few inches beyond the end zone when he snatched the ball out of the air, and the referee ruled that the heave was incomplete.

Two Scores in Second Half

The two elevens jockeyed up and down the gridiron in the third quarter until Coleman and Wilton, alternating, rushed the oval to the 1-yard line. Here the Eastern Shore lads made a determined stand and it looked as if the attack of the Axemen would prove futile. But they were not to be denied, and Wilton, although he fumbled, hurried through center, scoring the third touchdown. A pass, Coleman to Sapp, accounted for the additional point. The visitors threatened in this period. Kendall made a bad snap-back, and the ball eluded Wilton's grasp. Washington recovered on G. W.'s 10-yard line. Three stabs at the line were unproductive, and Wilton intercepted a pass over the goal line. Mock punted out of danger. An exchange of kicks gave the invaders the ball

Also there is another comedy, a "Buster Brown" adaptation. TOM.

PALACE

"An Exchange of Wives" is the first mediocre picture that I have seen at the Palace for some time. It exemplifies one of my pet prejudices, the box-office brand of movies that gloss supposedly suggestive and enticing stuff with ethically elevating endings. In this case a trite but amusing plot, bordering on farce, is submerged under Hobart Henley's poor direction, silly subtitles, and an abortive attempt at realism. This is sad, after such satirical and delightful trifles as "The King on Main Street" and "Beggars on Horseback."

Given: two charming couples. Hubby No. 1 takes Wife No. 2 up the river beyond Davis'. The remaining spouses, with the aid of the Police Boat searchlight, discover the errant lovers. An exchange of wives is affected, while the husbands in the audience faintly cheer. To be proven: should there not be Hot Stuff under the Elms? There should, but outside of a nifty negligee and a replica of your last petting party, there isn't.

Eleanor Boardman, Lewd Cody, Creighton Hale, and Renee Adoree are assigned to trivial parts. A Mack Sennett tragedy, tiresome Topics, Passe News, and Tom Gannon's excellent music are on draught. JACK.

METROPOLITAN

"Winds of Chance," an all-star production under the direction of Frank Lloyd, is one of the best offerings of First National since the making of gold-rush pictures became a recognized form of art. Based on a Rex Beach novel, the story holds nothing new, but the cast and direction more than make up for it. You will see some really good shots of northern scenery, and a generous sprinkling of love interest, pathos and comedy. Leading the rushers are Anna Q. Nilsson and Ben Lyon; supported by Viola Dana, Hobart Bosworth, and Philo McCullough. Supplementing the film are the Pathe newsreel and one of those fables from Aesop which illustrates another of his famous remarks in a misleading way. In referring to the music, I may say without fear of contradiction that the Breekin aggregation certainly know their notes.

ELBERT.

on the Buff and Blue 35-yard line, and Cavanaugh attempted a field goal. Coleman, in his effort to make a catch, let the ball slip through his hands and roll along the ground. Kendall, seeing the loose ball, scooped it up and set sail for another touchdown, with a clear field before him. The ball was declared dead on the spot where Coleman dropped it, so Kendall's work was for naught.

Opening up an extensive passing game in the final period, the Crummen soon manufactured their fourth tally. A couple of end runs, together with several nice passes, placed the pigskin within scoring distance, whence Coleman carried it over. On the kickoff, Cavanaugh resorted to the little used on-side kick, followed by a strenuous aerial attack, but the final whistle put an end to this as soon as it had begun.

NEW JERSEY TEACHERS HEAR DEAN RUEDIGER

Dean Ruediger was one of the principal speakers on the program of the Teachers' Institutes of two New Jersey counties held early last week. On Friday, October 23, he delivered an address in the morning and afternoon before the Teacher's Institute of Cumberland County, held in Bridgeton, N. J. His morning address was on "The Motivation of School Work," while in the afternoon he spoke on "Teaching as a Profession in Life."

Monday, October 26, he addressed the Teachers' Institute of Somerset County, held at Somerville, N. J., speaking in the morning on the subject of "Education for Leisure" and in the afternoon on "Teaching as a Profession in Life."

GERMAN CLUB ENTERTAINED
Der Deutsch Verein was entertained on the evening of October 23, by Miss Julia Escher, one of its members, at the Wanderlust clubhouse, Franklin Park, Va.

Supper was cooked over a campfire, after which the club was entertained with music and games.

The place for the next meeting has not been announced.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL HEAR DEAN WILBUR

Lt. Garbisch, Huston Thomas, and Dr. Wilfley Also on Program

TO BE HELD FRIDAY

All of City's Young People's Religious Organizations Are Invited to Meeting

Dr. William A. Wilbur, Dean of Columbian College of George Washington University; Lieut. E. W. Garbisch, captain of last year's West Point football team; Hon. Huston Thompson, Chairman of the U. S. Federal Trade Commission; and Dr. Earl C. Wilfley, president of the D. C. Federation of Churches, will give the young people of Washington a program of unusual interest on Friday night, November 6th, at the First Congregational Church, Tenth and G Streets, when practically all of the city's young people's religious organizations, embracing some 5,000 members, will meet together.

The theme of this unique mass meeting program will be "Christian Citizenship" and will be developed from four distinct angles by the speakers.

Dr. Wilbur will speak of the connection between young people's religious and educational organizations. Dean Wilbur's activities in Washington churches have stretched over a long and successful period and have won him as many friends in the city as have his thirty years at George Washington University.

Garbisch All-American Star

Lieutenant Garbisch, though a last year's All-American Star, is still active in athletics, being on the football team at Fort Humphreys, Va., where he is at present stationed. Lieut. Garbisch won fame and praise last year not only as the best All-American center and as captain of the Army team, which beat every opponent, with the exception of Notre Dame, but also as the head of a team which played before each game, and which, at the close of its greatest victory, that over Navy, stood before 80,000 people, in the Baltimore Stadium, and offered up thanks to God. Lieut. Garbisch will speak on the relation between athletics and religion and will give some of his thoughts on why "playing the game clean," as he expresses it, "all the way through, will bring its own reward."

Law Enforcement Subject

Hon. Huston Thompson is another former college football star, though his service, which was at Princeton, dates back some years farther than that of Garbisch. Mr. Thompson will speak upon the connection of young church workers with matters of law enforcement.

Dr. Earl C. Wilfley has been for years one of Washington's most popular speakers. He will deal with the part of young religious workers in inter-denominational church matters.

A half hour of singing, beginning at 7.30, will precede the program. The committee in charge of the meeting, composed of the presidents of six outstanding young people's religious unions of Washington, extends a very cordial invitation to all G. W. U. students to attend.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT OF MENORAH SOCIETY TALKS

The Menorah Society of George Washington University met Wednesday night October 20, at Corcoran Hall Room 1. Dr. Lubin, the national president of the Intercollegiate Menorah Society, addressed the group. He stressed the importance of learning the ideals and cultures of the Jewish race. At the next meeting on November 4, in Corcoran Hall, Room 1, a Menorah night is to be held. A musical program has been arranged.

The Menorah Journal, which is the publication of the Society, is to be reviewed as well as one of the articles in its latest issue. In addition some of the music of Offenbach will be played and his life will be discussed. Professor Elmer Louis Kayser will give a short address. All students of the University are invited to attend.

PAN HELLENIC HOLDS OPEN FORUM MEETING

Dean Rose Present at General Discussion Meeting; Mutual Problems Considered

Sorority girls were out in full force at a general Pan Hellenic meeting Monday evening, October 26, in Corcoran Hall.

Dean Rose gave an informal talk on the Pan Hellenic policies with special reference to rushing. An interesting discussion followed with the aim of determining what was the most satisfactory plan for carrying on the present Pan Hellenic program.

The meeting was held in the nature of an open forum and was extremely beneficial in many ways, especially since the Pan Hellenic Council holds only one meeting in two weeks and has to give part of its time to business matters.

Mutual Problems Discussed

By this method a larger group of girls are brought together and their mutual problems discussed openly, giving the entire group the benefit of the discussion. This direct means for interchange of ideas of the various sorority groups gives every girl a chance to form a proper personal opinion after hearing both sides of a question.

It is planned to bring together representative sorority groups again in the same manner in the near future. More meetings of this kind are strongly advocated as beneficial to all participants and to promote the interests of the university and the sorority.
